

Dragonfly Diary

Week of: Jan. 23, 2012

This week's top 5:

- Parent/Teacher's Conferences this week...Wednesday afternoon and Thursday. No school on Thursday, Jan. 26th or Friday, January 27th.
- If you're looking for something fun to do this weekend, The Morton Arboretum has a special event called "Husky Heroes." Check their site at: <http://www.mortonarb.org/calendar/article/22690/husky-heroes-meet-the-huskies.html> for additional information. A great winter event!
- Me Spots continue...they have all been simply charming! It's so sweet to see the child of the day come in, that morning, smiling from ear-to-ear. The children have really been enjoying our visitors, posters, story selections and projects.
- While there are still several weeks remaining before Valentine's Day, you may wish to begin making valentines at home with your child. Homemade Valentine's are the very best! Do not write classmates names on the envelopes. This makes distribution much easier.
- Does anyone have any fun, creative Valentine ideas? New project ideas are ALWAYS welcome...especially since Valentine's Day is "Mrs. Z's" favorite holiday ☺

Looking forward to seeing all of you at our conferences...

Mrs. Zabransky and Mrs. Clouston

P.S. Save the date: Thursday, March 8th...Science Night with "The Reptile Man!"
